Ground-Breaking for New Calvary Congregational Church Held on May 25

On Sunday afternoon many gathered at the church site at South Andover to witness the ground-breaking ceremony for the New Calvary Congregational Church. David Smith donated a piece of land on the former Barrett Farm. A loud speaker system was in operation for those listening in their cars. A platform was built on a truck and speakers spoke from that area. An organ was also transported via truck to the site.

The invocation was given by Rev. Robert Colby, pastor of the Faith Bible Church, Milton. The Scripture was read by Rev. Linwood Hanson, Bryant Pond Baptist Church.

Both the Junior Choir, led by Mrs. Orville Meisner, and the Senior choir, led by Mrs. Nathaniel Pearson, sang selections.

Rev. Edward Thornburg, West Newbury, Mass., Congregational Church, brought greetings from the Conservative Congregational Christian Conference and told of a special gift that will come from the National Organization to help with the building.

Written greetings were read from the Burlington, Maine, Congregational Church; Limington Congregational Church; Rev. Milton Gross, West Hamden Baptist Church; Rev. Felix Mayblom, Finnish Congregational Church, West Paris; and from the Moderator of the Maine Association of Christian and Community Churches, Carl Moore, Sebago.

Rev. Glenn Chaffee, Glen Cove Christian Academy and Director of Camp Berea, North Turner, brought the special message.

Rev. Leon Strout, Mexico Baptist Church, spoke on the purpose of a church building.

Breaking of the ground was done by the trustees of the Calvary Congregational Church, David Smith and Robert MacKenney.

Wilbur and William Powell, Mexico Baptist Church, sang a duet. Rev. Nathaniel Pearson gave the benediction.

There has been 4500 feet of lumber donated by a member of the church. There is an open fund. If anyone is interested in contributing to this fund they may send donations to the treasurer, Mrs. Ronald Wells, Andover.

It is hoped that the basement will be built sometime in June. The building committee is David Smith, Robert MacKenney, Ronald Wells, Clarence Bailey, Eugene Merrill and Rev. Nathaniel Pearson.

Mrs. David Simmons entered the Community Hospital the first part of last week.

Miss Victoria Simmons has completed her second year at FSC and is now at home.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Nevel and family spent last week end in New London, Conn.

TELSTAR REGIONAL HIGH SCHOOL NEWS

GUIDANCE

Special Agent Gerald T. Mahoney of the Federal Bureau of Investigation from Augusta was a recent visitor at the Guidance Department. He reported that there is a need in Washington, D. C., for high school graduates in typing and shorthand. The Board of U. S. Civil Service Examiners for the Boston area has issued a special call for high school graduates in Technical Aids in Science and Engineering including several occupations. An applicant must file an application and be assigned an examination date. Contact Mr. Glazier if you desire more information.

On Monday, May 26, Mr. Glazier continued his counseling with the 6th grade students at Woodstock who will be entering Telstar Regional this fall. On Wednesday, May 28, he was at Crescent Park School for counseling of 6th grade students.

James Law of the Oxford Paper Company visited the Guidance Department on Tuesday, May 27, and interviewed several seniors for future employment.

All students in grades seven through 11 at Telstar must have completed their selection sheets by Thursday, May 29. These are to be in final form at this time. Mr. Glazier has completed interviewing the 98 students in the sixth grade in reference to placement in grade 7.

Please reserve the evening of June 5 to attend the annual award night at Andover to be held at the Town Hall at Andover, 7:30 p. m. Andover students are asked to wear their caps and gowns. All Andover students in grades 7 through 11 are asked to attend in their respective classes. Local school personnel in SAD 44 will participate in the program; also appearing will be the Andover Juniors in several musical selections.

The committee in charge includes: Mrs. Robert B. Swain, chairman; Mrs. Morton Fox; and Charles Cutting.

The Guidance Department has received word that the following students have been accepted at colleges this week: Linda Koskela at Gorham State College; Brandon Falkenhain and James Bolen at Nason College, Springfield.

Word has been received that additional scholarship money is available to students at Elsenhower College, Seneca, N. Y., if they can

Mrs. Lillian Conant's class in Special Education enjoyed a trip to Oxford Lanes, Rumford, on Wednesday, May 28. Accompanying Mrs. Conant and her 12 students were Jimmy Lowe, Cheryl Stevens and Sharon Swan of Telstar. Mrs. Libbie Kneeland, her four students from the Ethel Bisbee School and Mrs. Virginia Keniston also made the trip. The outing was much enjoyed by all, and many thanks go to Mrs. E. Louise Lincoln, who generously donated the facilities of the bowling alley for the occasion.

Telstar's version of Cape Kennedy is about to be realized. Students of Physics instructor Timothy Kersey are preparing their launching pad for action. The students' rockets, which are of varying shapes and sizes and mostly of the parachute recovery type, are being readied for flight some time during the last week of school. All Maine Aeronautical Association rules on safety precautions will be obeyed to the letter. It is hoped that pictures taken at the launch site will be available for a later issue—T minus two weeks and counting!

The Dramatics Club's presentation of the Faculty Follies, viewed by a near capacity audience last Thursday evening, was a great success. Proceeds totaling nearly $500 will be used to purchase a make-up kit, special lighting and props for the Telstar Auditorium stage. The Dramatics Club wishes to extend to the many faculty participants sincere thanks and deep appreciation for providing a memorable evening of fine entertainment.

The Latin Club's supper on May 23 also proved to be a successful event. Chef Otero's spaghetti sauce received rave notices, and the entire supper was pronounced delicious.

Mr. Otero, on behalf of the Latin meet admission requirements. Students for this scholarship aid are entitled to file in June. The recipients of these funds in their Freshman year may continue the scholarships if their grades are satisfactory. If interested, write directly to the college and direct your correspondence to the following person: Richard R. Klotz, Director of Admissions.

The University of Maine, Portland, has announced an Art Laboratory Course for high school students ages 15-19. The course will involve studio and outdoor work with paintings, drawing and printing techniques. Classes will be held Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday at 1 p. m. from July 7 to July 25. The tuition fee is $20. Please contact the Guidance Office if you are interested.

Programs designed to help students with reading problems are available at the Summer Institute June 30-August 16 at Fryeburg. Each student is tested and an individualized program designed to help the student to improve his reading skill is arranged. At the same institute a program in Driver Education will be offered. Contact the Guidance Office if you desire more information.

Charles Kent called on the Wardwells Tuesday.

Club, wishes to express deep appreciation to Mrs. Hilda Brown, head Telstar cook, and her assistants, who gave so generously of their time and did such an excellent job. A special thanks also is extended to Dale Thurston, who assumed policeman's duties for the evening.

Mr. Otero has high praise for the members of the Club. He reports that there was full participation and cooperation on the part of all.

In fact, there was only one sad moment in the evening's proceedings. This came when Club members had to say goodbye to their pet, Toto. (Telstar Library patrons will also miss his spread-eagled stance while he guarded the SRA files!) He was won by Stanley Davis, with Perley Emery the winner of the record.

MISS ALICE CAPEN

Miss Alice M. Capen, of Bethel, died Monday morning, May 26, 1969, at the Dixfield Nursing Home where she had been a patient since May 12.

Miss Capen was born June 7, 1891, to Edward and Mary Jane Abbott Capen in the old family homestead on Capen Hill, the sixth of seven children, and is the last of this family of early Bethel settlers. The Capen women were outstanding cooks and when Alice was 16 she went one Sunday to the home of the W. R. Chapman family in Mayville to help with a dinner party. And to this family she devoted her entire life as a cook and housekeeper. Her special charge was the care and happiness of their only child, known to us as "Dimple." When the Chapmans were busy in New York with various musical activities Alice and Dimple sometimes spent the winters on Capen Hill but usually the four travelled together.

Alice had many interesting experiences especially during the years of the Maine Musical Festivals in Portland and Bangor and the Rubenstein Club concerts in the old Waldorf in New York. . . riding in a baggage car with Madame Schumann-Heink to get to a performance on time . . . keep Dimple from smacking gum when Caruso sang at the Opera . . .

However, her real interest was always the welfare of the family. After Dimple's death she lived on in the Chapman home. She enjoyed most keeping everything as it had always been, entertaining relatives and musicians from away, and showing the house to anyone interested. As she grew old herself she received the same tender care and attention, and to the many local people who at different times served her as companions and nurses, her family extended sincere appreciation.

She was an active member of the Methodist Church and the oldest Gould alumna in town. She is survived by five nephews, George Roberts of China, Maine, Edward, Richard, Stanley and Paul Carter of Bethel; two nieces, Mrs. Ethel Ward and Mrs. Rebecca Bailey.

Services were held Wednesday from the Greenleaf Funeral Home, Rev. George Stebbins officiating, with burial in Riverside Cemetery.

Tom Davis of GSC is home after completing this year of study. Mr. and Mrs. Buddy Clough visited relatives in town this past week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Laws were presented with a beautiful painting of west Parish Church, by Muriel Bowhay, as a gift from their friends in the church.

There are Laws and Laws

Hear Ye! Hear Ye! Court is in session.

We must hear our latest case. Please bring in your verdict quickly. There's such a short time of grace. There are moral and sacred laws, And laws of etiquette.

And decrees, and codes, and statutes. That we haven't heard of yet. We know of the laws of the prophet—The Gospel and the Mosaic Code. And the many acts and mandates That hide in every abode.

There are laws that make us happy—There are laws that make us sad—But the Laws we've had for the past twelve years

Are the Laws that have made us glad.

Many of the rules of life Seem to be rash or petty, But two of the very best on file Are Reverend Clifford and Betty. They've stood by us in times of stress,

And rejoiced when life seemed gay. But now the court's last session Says these Laws are breaking away. We will miss their friendly greetings As they pass us on the street, And the kindness they've always shown

To everyone they meet. This area was well-known to Cliff. We hear old neighbors relate, When he was a theological student In Bangor in TWENTY-EIGHT.

He came to the Umbagog Parish in his early ministerial life, Years before he decided To take unto himself a wife. Others in the Greater Parish Will join with us, no doubt, Because his friends are many In this area 'round about.

Now an offer is open. Which seems to be God's own plot. They'll be perfect for their surroundings

As hosts of a delightful spot. Their new home is a beautiful setting—

They'll love every flower and bird. A wonderful kind of environment To still carry on God's word.

We wish them all much happiness As they leave for this chosen field. What is our loss is another's gain. As a jury—we all must yield. It is said that what one gives to others

Will come back in double measure. And they both have this true possession Of friendship, service and pleasure. Their home has been their castle With a family filled with love. May their many blessings continue In the hands of the Lord above.

Presentations were made to Mrs. Bachelder by the guests. Refreshments were served. We had a heavy frost here last night, May 25.

Stanwood Nelson and crew have been cleaning up the cemetery for the last few days. It looks very nice. Everything in our small town looks spic and span. Only a few places look littered.

Mr. and Mrs. Earlon Paine were surprised at a neighborhood housewarming on Saturday evening. A purse of money was presented to them with an original poem written by Mrs. Ralph Ryder. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Richard Douglass, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Packard, Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Eames, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Ryder, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hunt, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Keniston.
